SEEPER'S MEN TO TAKE FIELD

FROM WOMAN FATALITY PROBED

Dr. Leaves Car As Coat
Bl on Road; Felled
Approaching Auto

Of investigation into the circumstances surrounding the death of C. Mesh, 38 years old, of Escondido, who was fatally injured
yesterday, late yesterday,
by Mrs. Lena Brown, 211
First street, Huntington Beach,
was progress today.

Mesh, who had been driving his car on the paved highway a mile and a half west of West-mor, stopped his car at the side of the road and started to walk across the pavement. The approaching car from the east, said a traveling thirty miles an hour, struck him, throwing him
several feet and rendering him unconscious, according to the story told by witnesses.

Woman's Car Damaged.
Mrs. Brown's car then swerved the road into the ditch, where was badly damaged although he of the occupants was injured.

That Mesh sought to retrieve his car, which had blown off the back of his car, was the reason why he walked across the highway. He was said to have seen struck just as he picked up the garment.

Dan K. Good of Huntington Beach rushed the injured man and Mrs. Brown to Long Beach. There, Mesh was transferred to an ambulance, in which he died. Long Beach police released Mrs. Brown after questioning her.

Motors Control of Car.
Motorcycle Officers H. S. Warner
and L. J. Haffner of the local sheriff's department, who were at the scene immediately, reported that Mrs. Brown had sounded her automobile horn before Mesh was struck.

The officers said Mrs. Brown claimed to have turned into the ditch in an attempt to avoid hitting the man, though they expressed the opinion that she lost control of her car immediately after it struck Mesh. In all events, however, most of the witnesses were said to be agreed that the fatal accident was unavoidable on the woman's part.

The body was removed to Mottell's undertaking establishment at Long Beach, where, it was stated,
an inquest would probably be held.

CHANCE FOR RAIN IN SOUTH SLIGHT DESPITE CLOUDS

Weather Observer Says Overcast Skies Do Not Hold
Out Much Hope For Rain; Hatfield Confident
Only His Efforts Will End Long Drought, Extends Option to Ventura

LOS ANGELES, March 1.—The local weather and "rainmaker" Charles M. Hatfield's possibility of being called into action in an endeavor to break the Southern California drought were both unsettled today.

While overcast skies gave rise to the hope that Dame Nature had bestirred herself and would come to a delayed rescue of the parched southland, the "rainmaker" turned an eye toward the heavens and opined that only through his ministrations will precipitation be assured.

Col. H. B. Hersey, local weather observer, admitted that cloudy weather in this section does not "give much hope for rain."

So confident was Hatfield that high clouds hold nothing but deceit, he extended Ventura county's option on his services until Monday noon, following a mass meeting there last night.

Should the Ventura ranchers not underwrite his proposal by that time, the San Bernardino county board of supervisors can sign a contract for the "rain-maker's" services. It is understood San Bernardino will pay $5000 for five inches of rain, if Hatfield can assure that much.

"I hope it does rain," Hatfield told the United Press today, "but I can't see anything promising ahead. The country has never needed a downpour as much as it does now in as far back as I can remember."

"But what if it should come, a quarter of an inch or so, it wouldn't do much good. What we need is a real and long continued rain. I feel sure I can bring it."

The Ventura meeting was very enthusiastic and two-thirds of the amount I ask was pledged. The clouds today may deter other possible pledges, in which case I will let the San Bernardino supervisors know by Monday noon, and take up their proposition if Ventura falls down."

"PADRE OF THE RAINS"
HOLDS OUT LITTLE HOPE
SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—
Father Richard of Santa Clara,
"Padre of the rains," held out little hope of needed rain in his monthly prediction for March.

Slight precipitation tomorrow
and again on the 17, 18 and 24th with a promise "that it will not be as dry as January and February" was the best he could do.

In Central California the rainfall is about half of normal, and farther north the situation is but little better. Farmers and stockmen are losing money daily.

The season is said to be the driest since 1905 in Southern California.

BIG TASK OF ASSESSING TO BEGIN

Fullest Co-operation On Part of Public Is Urged
By Official

With a word of advice to the property owners of the county, County Assessor James Sleeper today prepared to send his field deputies forth Monday on their annual assessment of real and personal property.

Stating that his office faces a tremendous and ever-growing task, owing to the rapid growth in population and real estate transfers, Sleeper earnestly urged co-operation on the part of the property owners, in order to facilitate the work as much as possible.

It is most important, said Sleeper,
that the time of the field deputies shall not be taken up by property owners with discussion of taxes. The assessors office, he explained, has nothing whatever to do with the taxes. It merely fixes the valuation and can give no information nor satisfaction regarding taxes.

Deputies' Time Valuable
The deputies, Sleeper said, cannot take the time to make several visits to each property owner. If the owner is not at home after one or two visits, the assessor will be compelled to make an arbitrary assessment, he said.

In that connection Sleeper quoted the law which, he said, provides that every property owner is required to file a return of his real and personal property with the assessor each year, regardless of whether he is visited by a deputy,
and to that extent the burden of obtaining a just valuation is placed upon the property owner.

The county is just now being flooded with new deeds and subdivision filings, as the time limit approaches for making transfers of ownership for assessment purposes Sleeper made known. The time expires at 12 o'clock noon Monday,
he said, and in cases where deeds are not filed by that hour, the property will be assessed to the "original owner, he said.

Announces Deputies
Sleeper today announced his list
of field deputies, as follows:
La Habra, Brea, Olinda, Yorba
Linda, Lowell—Claude Ridgeway; Fullerton—Robert McKee; Ana-
heim—H. H. Oshike; Commonwealth, Placentia, Anaheim school district—L. Z. Kroeger; Orange—

ry Van Der Leek.

When Eddie F. Sutherland, after running away from Fresno with pretty Eileen Soden and marrying her in Santa Ana, then blithely ran away from her, leaving a note explaining that he was a bigamist, Eileen and her father, W. E. Soden, took Eddie's word for it.

Accordingly, the father swore to a bigamy complaint, which was on file here today. Meanwhile, a search was being made for Sutherland who, it was alleged, left a trail of bogus checks as well as a bogus marriage ceremony behind him.

That the search by the local authorities is only one of several being made by different interests, was made known. A certain national detective agency was on the fugitive's trail, it was said, in connection with numerous worthless checks said to have been floated in Long Beach by Sutherland. More such checks were passed in Fresno,
it was declared.

Sutherland brought the girl to Santa Ana January 24 and they were wed here on that date, it was said. But their honeymoon had scarcely waned when Eddie disappeared, leaving only the note, the bogus checks and a heartbroken bride.

PASSAGE OF FARM RELIEF BILL URGED

McNary Measure Providing
$200,000,000 for Export
Corporation Wins Approval

WASHINGTON, March 1.
—The McNary bill providing for a $200,000,000 agricultural export corporation was favorably reported by the senate committee on agriculture
today.

The bill was amended in committee to reduce the operating period from ten years to five years. The corporation, directed by a commission headed by the secretaries of commerce, agriculture and treasury would be authorized to maintain a fair price for farm products by balancing the export of the surplus.

MESSAGES CAUSE OF INQUIRY

Senator Asks President If He Communicated With
McLean In Florida

CHIEF EXECUTIVE
TO IGNORE SPEECH

Committee Calls For Additional Telegrams In Inquiry Into Leases

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The senate today passed the Wheeler resolution providing for an investigation of Attorney General Daugh-erty's administration in the department of justice. The resolution provides that the investigation will be conducted by a committee of five senators, three Republicans and two Democrats, elected by the senate.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—President Coolidge was called on in the senate today to tell whether he had any communication with E. B. Mc-Lean, Washington publisher, while McLean was in Palm Beach last December.

Senator Caraway, Arkansas, in a speech on the Wheeler resolution for investigation of Attorney General Daugherty said:
"I'd like the president to say whether or not he entered into communication with McLean in Florida. One hundred million people would like to know the answer."

President Coolidge "will make no comment" or reply to the question, it was officially stated at the White House.

Caraway then referred to one of the mysterious McLean telegrams which notified McLean that one of his employees had seen "the principal" and delivered a message from McLean; that the "principal" was gratified at the message and was glad to know there would be no resignation and "no rocking of the boat."

Wants to Know.
"Who is the 'principal'?" asked Caraway. "Who knows whether there were to be more resignations from the cabinet? Who could have been the principal?"

Denouncing as a "disgrace to America," the senate's investigations in recent months, Senator Fess, Ohio, declared that "we have reached the point where the only safeguard to a man in public life is to be a pauper and nonentity."

Fess was defending Attorney General Daugherty. He said the impeachment proceedings in the house against Daugherty some months ago were not a whitewash
but a full and impartial hearing and that the exoneration of Daugherty was justified.

Withdraws Amendment.
Fess opened debate on the Wheeler resolution. Before debate got under way Senator Lodge, Massachusetts, withdrew his amendment to the resolution providing the investigating committee
be named by Senator Cummins,
president pro tem of the senate.

Lodge said he had been informed Cummins did not wish responsibility for appointment of the committee.

A woman was drawn into the investigation today when Senator Walsh announced he would summon
Mrs. W. O. Duckstein, wife of E.
B. McLean's secretary, to testify regarding code telegrams sent to McLean at Palm Beach.

Mr. Browning was born in Illinois September 28, 1867. Most of the years from 1877, when he arrived in California, until 1902, when he came to Santa Ana and Tustin, were spent in Northern California. In 1902 Mr. Browning became associated with the Irvine company, he retiring from that company as assistant superintendent in January, 1911.

Funeral Monday
He was one of the organizers of the Orange County Country club, and was always much interested in the activities of that club.

Mr. Browning was a man of strong character and high standing in the county, with a wide circle of friends. The positions he held indicate the confidence that those who knew him had in his judgment and integrity.

Mr. Browning leaves his widow; a son, Felton; of Tustin; a sister, Dr. Mary E. Wright, and a brother, C. R. Browning, both of Santa Ana.

The funeral is to be held at Smith and Tustin's chapel Monday morning at 10 o'clock, with the Rev. W. L. H. Benton, pastor of the Church of the Messiah, officiating. At Fairhaven cemetery, in Santa Ana Elks lodge will be in charge.

Loses Bride Seeking Judge 'Honey, Yo' All Sit Heah,' Dusky Maid Told at Parting Justice Comes to Rescue

BY GEORGE HART

James K. Rose, of the "coal black" variety, brought his dusky bride-elect, Vittle M. Avery, to Santa Ana yesterday from Los Angeles. They bought a marriage license from Joe Backs, the unsympathetic county clerk.

Then they started hunting for Justice J. B. Cox, whose court is situated in the courthouse basement. Object matrimony.

Through dark corridors, darker than their own complexions, the twain wandered searching in vain for the little sign they had been told would mark the judge's door. But directions were mixed, or James and Vittle let their minds wander a different way than they were traveling, or something else was wrong.

Anyway the basement corridors began to look like a labyrinth and the wandering became toil. Finally, James K. summoned a halt.

Leave Bride Elect in Chair
"Honey," he says, "Ah believe we're lost. Ah'm most worn out. Yo' all sit heah while ah finds our way out."

James seated Vittle on a chair in a dim corner and perched his way back through the labyrinth, seeking daylight.

"Ah sho' would like to know where dat judge am," he muttered. "He's sutenly a powerful hard judge to meet."

Some minutes later James had missed the way out for the eleventh time and was still wandering. "Whaffore all these caves and cellars and such, I'd like for to know," he grumbled.

Many more minutes later James K. shuffled forlornly past a dim corner and stopped short. Here was the chair where he had left Vittle and there was Vittle standing before Judge Cox.

Bans Mother-in-Laws
James had left her sitting just outside the door of the courtroom while he wandered away to the other end of the building searching for it.

James, however, didn't wait to figure all this out. He sprang elastically into line beside Vittle and faced the judge, ready for the worst.

"Come inside and take it," ordered the judge. "I wondered what this woman was doing sitting here in the dark. Guess I would have stumbled over her only I saw her gold tooth shining."

Straight-away the marriage ceremony was happily performed, Vittle informing the judge that she would not obey, and James K. entering vigorous denial to the judge's sly query whether he intended to live with his mother-in-law.

"No suh, judge yo' honah," we-all ain't goin' to live with no mother-in-law. We is goin' to live in Los Angeles—and in peace."

DISARM SUSPECT IN 11 ROBBERIES HERE

the homes of L. F. Wilde, 1917 Bush street; R. O. Metz, 1608 French street, and C. C. Whitney, 209 East Twentieth street. All of these places were entered by Best cutting screens and opening windows, it was explained.

Procure Assorted Evidence
City Marshal L. C. Rogers, Inspector Sid Smithwick and Officers Bob Elliott, F. G. Yoder and L. E. Hurd secured the necessary assorted evidence and most of the loot which caused Best to make his complete confession.

The alleged burglar told the officers he would waive his preliminary hearing and take his sentence without opposition or defense, police stated.

Because Best admitted he spent considerable time in Long Beach, City Marshal Rogers believed he may be a member of the gang which has terrorized Long Beach lately. Two men and two women together with $50,000 worth of loot have come into the grasp of the law during the past few days in the beach city, it was reported.

Best told police officers he had been "operating" in Oakland with a man named Fred Baster who worked in a "hook shop." Baster, he asserted, disposed of the loot in his shop until he was arrested by Oakland officials recently.

"That's why I came to this section of the country," Best said. "I was afraid they'd get me, too."

At the police station today there was a neat array of men's suits, watches, seven revolvers, $19.85 in cash, suitcases and numerous other articles which Best admitted stealing from homes in Santa Ana.

Investigation by her attorneys has revealed that no license was issued for the marriage ceremony and that a pseudo clergyman performed the ceremony, rs. Searle alleges.

Will Refuse to Talk
Francis McAdoo, son of William G. McAdoo, and McLean's counsel, was excused until Tuesday. He served notice today he will refuse to reveal his relations with McLean on the ground that as counsel he is privileged to remain silent. The committee will try to make him talk.

Additional telegrams and records of telephone calls between Washington and Palm Beach were furnished the committee today. Committee members said they involved new names but no other officials.

Subpoenas were issued this afternoon for manager of the Western Union and Postal offices at Three Rivers, N. M., to produce all telegrams sent to or filed by former Secretary of the Interior Fall, Harry F. Sinclair, James W. Zevely, Robert Stewart, president of the Standard Oil company of Indiana or H. M. Blackmer, president of the Midwest Oil company.

Pillager, Pushes Over Tombstones

PAWTUCKET, R. I., March 1.—Ninety-nine tombstones in Mt. St. Mary's cemetery, one of the largest Roman Catholic burial grounds in Rhode Island, have been broken off at the base or overturned.

The police said that it was evidently the work of a powerful man, acting alone in a snowstorm Wednesday night. Tracks of one man were found in the snow.

Secures Loot of $50,000 With Gum

CHICAGO, March 1.—Fishing through an iron grill in the Peoples Trust and Savings bank with a stick and a piece of chewing gum as "bait," a thief "hooked" securities valued at $50,000 and made his escape.

The securities, United States certificates of indebtedness, each valued at $10,000, had been taken to the bank only a few minutes before, and had been unwrapped and left just inside the cashier's cage. A few minutes later five of the certificates were gone. Ten then remained were smeared with gum.

Woman Says Her Wedding a Trick

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—Asserting that she had discovered she had been tricked into a fraudulent marriage ceremony in 1919 in Spokane, Mrs. Thomas Searle, club woman of San Mateo, San Francisco suburb, swore to a warrant for the arrest of Searle, whose real name, she told the authorities, is Thomas J. S. Skinner. He is reputed to be a wealthy lumberman of Calgary, Alta.

Investigation by her attorneys has revealed that no license was issued for the marriage ceremony and that a pseudo clergyman performed the ceremony, rs. Searle alleges.

Suit Avers Combine To Fix Gas Prices

OMAHA, Neb., March 1.—Suit was filed in district court today by Attorney General O. S. Spillman of Nebraska against fifteen oil and refining companies doing business here, asking that some of them be ousted from the state and that others be dissolved and placed in the hands of trustees. He alleges a combination exists to fix the price of gasoline and other petroleum products in restraint of trade. The companies he would oust are foreign corporations.

Solon Urges Dry Violations Probed

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Declaring the accidental shooting of Senator Greene of Vermont during a chase of suspected bootleggers by a dry law enforcement squad was typical of the methods pursued by the national prohibition department, Senator Edwards, Democrat, New Jersey, urged in the senate that a thorough investigation be made of the federal enforcement agencies.

It is a matter of record, Senator Edwards continued, that despite constant increases in the number of employees both at headquarters and in the field "there has been an amazing increase in the number of criminals and civil prosecutions in district courts for violation of the liquor laws."

MOVIE HAS YET PROVE USE IN EDUCATION

CHICAGO, March 1.—The movie has yet to prove its effectiveness as a teacher of youth, judging from opinions expressed today by speakers before the department of superintendence of the National Education association.

The American boy and girl misleads many educators by showing an intense interest in entertaining motion pictures. Let the object of the movie be education and the youngster is likely to doze, Frank N. Freeman, professor of psychology of the University of Chicago, advised the meeting.

Public schools have the job of making good citizens out of 25,000,000 American youths and 13,000,000 aliens, Supt. Fred M. Hunter of Oakland, Calif., told the convention. An army of 750,000 teachers is at work on the task, he said.

Is Money Invested?
"Money for schools is money invested; money for roads and public buildings is money expended," declared E. W. Butterfield, state commissioner of education for New Hampshire.

The students' millennium—the day when there will be no exams—is coming on apace, in the view of educators.

Speakers before the convention of the department of superintendence, ruled out the periodic examination, "and all its moral hazards," as unsound, unscientific and "generally meaningless." For the examination mark, it seems, has been proven by years of testing by educational psychologists, "to have absolutely no fixed relation to mental capacity, or intellectual ability."

A scheme for scientific measurement of intelligence to replace the examination system was suggested.

A plea for instruction in a code of "world patriotism," which will develop a positive appreciation of the rights of other nations, was made before a group conference by Augustus O. Thomas, commissioner of education in Maine.

Mrs. Susan Dorsey, superintendent of schools in Los Angeles, reported to the National Council of Administrative Women in Education on the increasing activity of feminine educators.

12 State Superintendents

Twelve of the 48 states now have women state superintendents; one third of the county superintendents are administered by women, and several large cities have appointed women superintendents, she reported. More than 1000 women superintendents and commissioners are members of the council.

Louis E. Plummer, Fullerton, Calif., was unanimously elected president of the American Junior College association, a unit of the National Education association whose three days' convention closed.

BRIDE STUDENT QUIT COLLEGE FOR EXPLAINS

WATERTOWN, N. Y., March 1.—Herbert C. Porter, the Applied Science sophomore, requested to withdraw from Syracuse university because he defied an edict of Chancellor Charles Wesley Flint and was desecrating, is back at his Watertown home with his bride.

Mrs. Porter, formerly Miss Genevieve Bamford of Leroy street road, continues her studies in Watertown high school.

None of the teachers call her "Mrs. Porter." They all say "Joey," to avoid a ripple of comment from the other pupils.

The real reason for the marriage despite the university ban on weddings was disclosed by the girl bride.

"Why did Herbert and I get married? Why do most people get married? For the simple reason they love each other and I can tell you truly that Herbert and I do love each other dearly. I think that we were both afraid someone else would intervene. Herbert was in Syracuse and I was up here, and it made all the difference in the world."

"Herbert and I were engaged for some time and I never went out with a boy at the high school and he never went with a girl at college. We had planned to marry once before and it was rumored that we did, but at that time I refused because I did not want Herbert to ruin his college career, as I knew it would be if we were married. We had planned to wait until he graduated, in two more years, as then it would be better for both of us."

"I only just had vacation, I think—that they had a dance at college and Herbert took his cousin, I was not pleased to think he was taking another girl, even though it was his cousin. There was a dance at the high school and I went with a boy from Gouverneur. It was not because I did not love Herbert as much as ever that I went with the other fellow, but it was because I was a little mad at Herbert for taking his cousin to the college dance."

Talked It Over
"Herbert came up to school on the night of the party to see if I went alone, and when he saw me with the other boy he got a little mad—just as I intended he should. We had a little argument, then talked the matter over and decided to marry at once, so such a thing should not occur again."

That is the whole story of our marriage and the only reason we kept it secret was because we did not want Herbert to stop his college work.

"I am back at high school and will continue my studies until June, when I hope to graduate."

Says Purple Suit 'Best Bet' of Men

PARIS, March 1.—The Latin quarter has made its yearly contribution to the world, adopting a doctrine of purple suits for men. Although the idea is said to come from London, Paris welcomes anything to brighten the city.

Paul Poiret in commenting on the new mode said:

"It would be a big improvement if artists got suits of any color—they are so shabby and seedy that they are an eyesore to Paris."

Cecile Sorol, theatrical star, says that men togged out in bright colors would make no hit with women because it would detract from the attention now riveted on the weaker sex if men vied with them with bright plumage.

TURKS ORDER SHOPS CLOSED FRIDAY, TOO

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 1.—The assembly has passed an obligatory Friday rest day, and all those shops which are not on the list of exemptions and do not close will be prosecuted.

The application of this law in such a cosmopolitan community as the Pera quarter of Constantinople is, one suspects, a subtle stroke of Turkish intolerance, as the considerable Christian and Jew elements will have to decide between losing an additional day's business or economizing on their religious observances. Hitherto the existence of shopkeepers of the three faiths in the one town has been of great convenience, as one was always sure of finding some decently good shop open.

It will be interesting to learn whether the law is better obeyed at Angora than the law on prohibition has been. It was frequently said here in Constantinople that raki was always to be obtained in Angora and that the monopoly for its manufacture had been granted to the local chief of police.

OPERA IS BASED ON WIFE'S UNHAPPINESS

BERLIN, March 1.—Richard Strauss' new opera, "Intermezzo," which is to be produced next season in Austria and Germany, is based upon the personal experience of the composer which caused him and his wife many unhappy days, and narrowly missed wrecking their home.

While Dr. Strauss was away from home he received a telegram from his lawyer, saying his wife had instituted a suit for divorce. The composer rushed back to Vienna, but was unable to find his wife. Consequently he consulted her attorney as well as his own, and was told the whole story.

Frau Strauss had opened one of his letters which apparently revealed a love affair with another woman. Dr. Strauss declared he did not know the letter writer's name, and the lawyers went to see her. The girl asserted she was Strauss' sweetheart, saying she was to meet him that afternoon at a certain cafe. The lawyers went to the cafe and saw the girl meet another man, who confessed that he had used Strauss' name, as he did not desire to reveal his own and did not believe the young woman would write to the composer.

Hermann Bahr wrote the libretto on a plot suggested by Strauss, but the composer rewrote it, as Bahr failed to make Frau Strauss as fascinating and attractive as her husband wished.

COLLEGE BUILT MERCAMPUS AT MONA

CLAREMONT, March 1.—Announcement made today that Pomona college secured the entire block of land known as the Jencks property, between the Dartmouth and Columbia and Seventh and Eleventh streets in Claremont. This will be used for the development of a men's campus to correspond with the property to the south of the Marston quadrangle, where under development for a women's campus.

Some time ago college secured two large blocks between Sixth and Eighth streets and Columbia and Amherst streets of this men's campus, but it was felt that these blocks were too removed from the academic center of the campus to be the most able time of future dormitories.

Jencks had many tempting offers to buy this acquisition now becoming available through generous terms by his heirs, and by his additional contribution of $5,000 toward this tract, it was announced. The college will come into complete possession of this tract before summer the three blocks will then be used to form the area of the men's campus.

Through Miss Mary, the college is also securing property on Sixth street on long terms, the college already has a considerable portion of this block, which adjoins the Jencks property, the whole tract is north of Smiley hall.

While the college has no promise of funds for erecting of buildings, it is nevertheless believed that the security of this property is a most important step in assuring further development of these lines. The college of the college for increasing territory space are obvious and is felt that they will appeal to persons interested in making donations to educational purposes.

William Jennings Bryan's Weekly Bible Talk

If we judge the characters of the Old Testament by their versatility, David stands alone.

No one approaches him in the variety of his accomplishments. He was winsome and audacious, tender and firm; he had sentiment and common sense—he was a practical idealist.

He had height and breadth and depth—all resting on an abiding love of God and backed by an unconquerable faith.

While but a youth he was anointed king-to-be and "the spirit of the Lord came upon David from that day forward."

He was a musician and played on the harp for Saul when the latter was melancholy.

His early life as a shepherd boy had given him manly strength and practice with the sling, but little did he dream of the use to which he would put the accuracy that he acquired.

Little do any of us dream of the use to which we may put the several abilities that we develop in youth, but God has some one in training for every emergency.

Preparing for Service

If we prepare as best we can to render some service, that service or an opportunity for something better opens for us.

It was not long before David found a use for his sling.

He went to Saul's army with provisions for his older brothers, and found Goliath offering his daily insult to the Israelitish warriors.

Then occurred one of those thrilling experiences that are always strange, though constantly recurring—viz., the calm courage with which a "man of destiny" enters upon a task from which others shrink.

The challenge of an armored giant—nine or eleven feet in height, according to the cubit used in measurement—was enough to dismay those who fought in their own strength.

But what was there about a giant to cause fear in the heart of one who was in partnership with an infinite God?

When "plus God" is added, the problem is solved.

A sling, plus God, has more pro-pulling power than the mightiest cannon; a little pebble, plus God, is more deadly than the shells used in the late war which were warranted to burst into one hundred and twelve pieces or more.

Sin Invites Defeat

When David accepted the challenge he did not know that Goliath would leave his forehead exposed—all he knew was that God would deliver His people and he left the way of deliverance to God.

But God sees to it that Error always leaves some vital part exposed.

There is a boastfulness about sin that invites defeat—a pride that goes before destruction.

Goliath was a victim of pride before he became a victim of the dauntless shepherd boy.

This victory established David's popularity and his admirers were so outspoken in their praise that Saul immediately became jealous.

What king, as selfish as Saul, could hear without indignation and anger the chanting of such praise as "Saul has slain his thousands, and David his ten thousands."

David was modest and humble; he had no desire to hasten the promised day when he should reign in Saul's place, but Saul was so different from David that he could not believe David loyal.

Even when David twice spared the life of the king whom the fortunes of war had thrown into his hands, Saul compelled him to go into exile—a part of the time among the Philistines.

The generosity shown by David toward Israel's wicked ruler would be enough to immortalize him, but it is only one of his many virtues.

The Model For Friendship

The friendship between Jonathan and David is the supreme illustration of love between men.

At first it reflected more credit on the king's prospective successor, for Jonathan was not only shielding David from the wrath of an irate father, but he was protecting one who was chosen to substitute the reign of his own family for the reign of the family of Saul.

David, while at first the debtor of Jonathan, fully reciprocated the affection of the latter and, because of his wonderful genius, was able to repay the friend of his youth with one of the most exquisite eulogies ever spoken of man by man:

"Oh, Jonathan, thou wast slain in thy high places, I am distressed for thee, my brother Jonathan; very pleasant has thou been to me; thy love to me was wonderful, passing the love of women."

The recording of David's one enormous sin is proof conclusive that the narrative is true. No biographer of Israel's greatest king would have mentioned an incident so shameful, had he been manufacturing a character.

But there is a man of flesh and blood, gigantic in his virtues and heroic in his accomplishments, but after all just a man, falling before the one temptation against which man must perpetually struggle because it cannot be removed.

In the matter of worship David is also in a class by himself. His psalms furnish the basis of all our church music. We sing his thoughts and words over after him:

"The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.
"He maketh me to lie down in green pastures; he leadeth me beside the still waters.
"He restoreth my soul."

"Lift up your heads, O ye gates; even lift them up, ye everlasting doors; and the king of glory shall come in."

"Who is this King of glory? The Lord of hosts, he is the King of glory."

"Unto thee, O Lord, do I lift up my soul.
"Show me thy ways, O Lord; teach me thy paths.
"Lead me in thy truth, and thy love; for thou art the God of my salvation; on thee do I wait all the day."

"I will love thee, O Lord, my strength."

"The Lord is my rock, and my fortress, and my deliverer; my God, my strength, in whom I will trust; my buckler, and the horn of my salvation, and my high tower."

"The heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament sheweth his handywork.
"Day unto day uttereth speech, and night unto night sheweth knowledge."

"The fear of the Lord is clean, enduring forever; the judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether."

"Let the words of my mouth, and the meditation of my heart, be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength, and my redeemer."

"The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? the Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid?"

"Wait on the Lord: be of good courage, and he shall strengthen thine heart: wait, I say, on the Lord."

"God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble.
"Therefore will not we fear, though the earth be removed, and though the mountains be carried into the midst of the sea;
"Though the waters thereof roar and be troubled, though the mountains shake with the swelling thereof."

"The Lord God of hosts is with us; the God of Jacob is our refuge. Selah."

"Have mercy upon me, O God, according to thy loving kindness; according unto the multitude of thy tender mercies blot out my transgressions."

"Purge me with hyssop, and I shall be clean; wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow."

"Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me.
"Restore unto me the joy of thy salvation; and uphold me with thy free spirit."

"O Lord, open thou my lips; and my mouth shall shew forth thy praise.
"For thou desirest not sacrifice; else would I give it: thou delightest not in burnt offering."

"The sacrifices of God are a broken spirit; a broken and a contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not despise."

The lesson text for today discloses the secret of David's life. While he surpassed all the leaders of the people in arms and in literature, and was supremely great in other ways, he was humble and gave God all the glory.

"Then went King David in, and sat down before the Lord, and he said, Who am I, O Lord God? and what is my house, that thou hast brought me hitherto?"

"For thy world's sake, and according to thine own heart, hast thou done all these great things, to make thy servant know them."

David is a standing rebuke to the pygmies who, puffed up by a little success, "knock out the stars with their exalted heads."

How beautiful talents are when mixed with modesty; what a heritage is such a man to his own and every race.

SPECTACLE COMING

"The Hunchback of Notre Dame" Opens Five-Day Engagement at Walker Monday

With thousands of actors in the spectacular movement of the play.

Myrtle Stedman appearing in "The Age of Desire," at the West End tonight.

Clara Kimball Young in a scene from "A Wife's Romance," picture at Walker Sunday.

Marguerite de la Motte who has leading woman's role in "Wandering Daughters," due at the Yost tomorrow.

the largest scenic settings ever constructed in film history, and Lon Chaney in a role that dwarfs anything the celebrated star has ever before attempted, "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," based on Victor Hugo's classic story, comes to Walker's theater Monday at the Matinee performance for an engagement of five days.

"The Hunchback of Notre Dame" sets a new mark in picturedom. Carl Laemmle has presented a classic of the first magnitude in a play of a like magnitude. The old Cathedral of Notre Dame was reproduced to scale and in every detail for the picture; there are entire blocks of old Paris streets with their quaint old-world architecture, the great Place Du Parvis, the court of miracles, palaces, justice halls and torture chambers, the wonderful gardens of the Cathedral and dozens of other scenes reproduced on a lavish scale.

In the great crowd scenes, the Parisian festival, and the attack on the cathedral, the astounding denouement of the play, thousands of actors appear. The list of principals totals seventy five. Patsy Ruth Miller appears as Esmeralda, the Gypsy dancer. Others in the cast include Norman Kerry, Ernest Torrence, Tully Marshall, Raymond Hatton, Brandon Hurst, Cesare Gravina, Winifred Bryson and many others.

The riot in the place du Parvis, where armored horsemen disband the shouting, raging mob that, with torches, is threatening to burn Paris, the attempted sack of the cathedral by Clopin's underworld army, and the spectacular and sensational features of the big story.

A special performance of "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" was given before a group of prominent Santa Anans this morning at Walker's theater.

"A WIFE'S ROMANCE" AT WALKER TOMORROW.
"A Wife's Romance," which will be shown at Walker's theater tomorrow, offers excellent entertainment to old and young. It is a picture so full of color and romance and the breathing spirit of real life that it ought to be seen by everyone who desires to put cares away and delight in a world of pure joy.

Norman Kerry, who plays the role of Phoebus The Hunchback of Notre Dame," the film play coming to Walker Monday afternoon for an engagement of five days.

Charles Jones in a scene from "The Eleventh Hour" opening at the West End tomorrow.

"THE NEXT CORNER" CLOSES AT TEMPLE TOMORROW.

"The World's greatest lovers were all tragic characters," says Ricardo Cortez who plays the role of a romantic Spaniard in "The Next Corner," which closes at the Temple tomorrow.

"Just for a few examples," he says, "you might mention Romeo, an Italian; Othello, a Moor; Cleopatra, an Egyptian; Werther, a German; Byron, the English poet; Burns, the Scotch poet; Cyrano de Bergerac, Rostand's tragic hero, a Frenchman, and the unhappy king of Spain whose loves led to the conquest of his country by the Arabs."

In "The Next Corner," Cortez plays the role of a Spanish don whose excessive loves eventually lead to his death.

Featured in the picture are Conway Tearle, Lon Chaney, Dorothy Mackrell, Ricardo Cortez and Louise Dresser.

"WANDERING DAUGHTERS" AT YOST TOMORROW.

Marjorie Daw, one of the featured stars in the production, "Wandering Daughters," which comes to the Yost theater tomorrow, was married April 20 to Eddie Sutherland, director for Charles Chaplin, at "Pickfair," the Beverly Hills home of Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks.

The marriage of the diminutive player created considerable of a surprise among the Hollywood movie folk among whom Miss Daw has been prominent for several years, and especially so in view of many statements from Miss Daw that she did not contemplate marriage until her theatrical career was concluded.

Mary Pickford acted as Miss Daw's maid of honor and Charles Chaplin as best man at the ceremony. Douglas Fairbanks and Pola Negri also attended.

"THE ELEVENTH HOUR" AT WEST END TOMORROW.
A story with more action, thrills and daring by the stars, than "The Eleventh Hour," the film opening tomorrow at the West End theater, has never been shown.

Down in San Pedro, Calif., a company of two hundred actors and actresses rehearsed scenes for months. Literally, they played with a fleet of submarines, a fleet of hydro-airplanes and a school of speed boats.

Carmel Myers in a scene from "The Dancer of the Nile" closing at the Walker.

hired to watch out for various actors who risked lives in the harbor waters.

Considerable dancing was present. In one scene by Mason and her co-stars, the ones, were shot through a tube of a submarine. In itself it was a tremendous experience. Shirley was hit to come to the surface head struck a bit of floating wreckage and she was stunned. Fortunately, Jones arrived a second later and saved her from drowning.

"BRIGHT LIGHTS BROADWAY" AT YOST TODAY

What is said to be the most moving and most intense of life as it is lived on New York's Great White Way, is presented in the picture, "Bright Lights of Broadway," which begins its two days' engagement Monday.

A notable array of make-up the cast, the features of the picture are entrusted to such artists as Lowell Sherman, Doris Kenyon and Harrison Ford, and they are supported by Edmund Breese, Tyrone Power, Shannon and Charles Mu.

Glimpses are also of the famous Beauty Chorus, the New York Hippodrome, the sixteen Tiller Girls of Ziegfeld "Follies." The picture culminates in a climax of test intensity.

Jalapa, Mexico, gives the privilege of shooting a scene of suspicion any person the city on a gallop.

"THE HUMMING BIRD"

Gloria Swanson's Latest Film
Opens Six Day Engagement
At Temple On Monday

Gloria Swanson does an apache dance in her latest picture, "The Humming Bird," which opens an engagement of six days at the Temple theater next Monday.

"It is a cruel, fierce, wild dance," according to Aurelio Coccia, Miss Swanson's instructor. "Many people believe that it has been exaggerated by dancers but this is not so."

The style, manner and music for the dance was brought direct from Paris by Coccia fourteen years ago when apache dances were all the rage in this country. The steps are the same that he saw and learned on many visits to the Parisian underworld.

Edward Burns has the leading male role in "The Humming Bird," opposite the star. Others in the strong cast include Mario Majeroni, Jacques d'Auray and Helen Lindroth.

"THE AGE OF DESIRE"

Close Run Tonight

Lured to the West End theater last night by the announcement that the new feature had been directed by Frank Borzage, the creator of "Humoresque" and "Children of Dust," the capacity audience was duly rewarded by seeing one of the finest examples of the photodramatic art that has ever graced the silver sheet.

The production was "The Age of Desire," and is scored a tremendous hit. Borzage has again given visual evidence of his remarkable genius of being able to sway the emotions by means of a strip of celluloid. The picture closes tonight.

The simplicity and naturalness of the acting of the three principal members of the cast, Mary Philbin, Myrtle Stedman and William Collier, Jr., were especially noteworthy.

Too much praise cannot be bestowed upon the remainder of the cast, which consisted of Edith Yorke, J. Farrell MacDonald, Frankie Lee, Aggie Herring, Baby Bruce Guerin, Mary Jane Irving, Bruce Erick Truesdell and Josef Swickard.

"EXPERIENCE" CLOSING AT PRINCESS TONIGHT

The elite of New York was recruited for the big picture, "Experience," that plays at the Princess theater tonight. Wives of the most prominent business men of that city, put aside their social duties for a day to appear in the gorgeous cabaret scene, which is an important feature of the picture.

As the habitués of cabarets along the Great White Way are, in a

The death of Edward J. Rubien, Montebello salesman, whose mangled body was found on the Santa Fe tracks here Tuesday morning, possibly will remain an unsolved mystery, according to those investigating the murder and suicide theories which had been advanced.

Facts which support a suicide verdict are disputed by those who were intimately acquainted with Rubien, while the murder theory is believed by those who believe that the man's purse, jewelry and sample case were not taken from him, and he was not known to have any enemies.

great number, society folk, George Fitzmaurice, the director, induced the social lights of the city to come to the Paramount studio on Long Island and appear before the screen as "extras." The response was most generous.

"THE DANCER OF THE NILE" AT WALKER TONIGHT

One of the biggest photodramas ever made at Hollywood shows tonight at Walker's theater under the title of "The Dancer of the Nile." Featuring Carmel Myers, Malcolm McGregor and June Elvidge, the production covers in a dramatic way the period of Egypt when King "Tut" was a young man and proves that the desires and ambitions of those ancient days were much the same as ours of today.

LEAVE S. A. UNDER FIRE OF FLAG EDICT

The incident in school life of Santa Ana which has stirred patriotic citizens of the city since disclosures were made that Ralph E. Crandall had directed his children to refuse to salute the flag in flag exercises at Franklin school, was a closed one today, so far as the Crandall family was concerned. The Crandall family left yesterday for Los Angeles, according to school authorities.

The affair, however, may not be a closed incident so far as Ernest Crouch, 8-year old son of J. B. Crouch, is concerned, it was intimated. The Crouch family, it was said, did not follow the Crandall family.

Monday morning will disclose whether or not the Crouch boy will be taken to the detention home as an incorrigible as he then will be given opportunity to honor the colors at school it was stated.

According to Miss Lottie Sweet, principal of Franklin school, the Crouch boy has always stood in line when other pupils were saluting the colors. He never, however, gave the salute, she said.
